This piece was given special premiere performances by "Maple Leaf Children Singers - Youth and Spirit Choirs" in all Canadian Provinces and Territories on Canada Day, 2004. This musical tribute originated with Diana Clarke. "We are all proud of our Canadian heritage. It is very important that together we pass this pride on to all Canadians. I thank all the choirs who share this feeling with me. It is through your participation that we have, together, been able to create this "Youth and Spirit" program. Keep on singing!" (Diana Clarke)

Sunil Mahtani was born in Bombay, India, and moved to Canada at the tender age of seven. He is pleased to be given the chance to write this Valentine to the country that has given him the opportunities to make his dreams come true.

Donald Patriquin was born in Quebec of English-speaking parents who had emigrated from Nova Scotia, and whose forbears arrived in Canada from England, Sweden and France. As an English Quebecer he is privileged to live in both cultures as his wife, Louise Racette, who wrote the translations, is a native French Canadian.
